The “space between our disciplines” is intellectually rich, educationally vibrant, and professionally productive. Our interdisciplinary degree options provide a strong foundation of use-inspired, experientially informed course work and research opportunities. Our programs are designed to produce graduates equipped to engage the international marketplace and shape global culture.

Programs

Master of Science
- Arts Administration and Cultural Entrepreneurship (http://catalog.northeastern.edu/graduate/arts-media-design/interdisciplinary-programs/arts-administration-cultural-entrepreneurship-ms)
- Urban Planning and Policy (http://catalog.northeastern.edu/graduate/social-sciences-humanities/public-policy-urban-affairs/urban-planning-policy-ms)

Graduate Certificate
- Arts Administration (http://catalog.northeastern.edu/graduate/arts-media-design/interdisciplinary-programs/arts-administration-graduate-certificate)
- Cultural Entrepreneurship (http://catalog.northeastern.edu/graduate/arts-media-design/interdisciplinary-programs/cultural-entrepreneurship-graduate-certificate)

Courses

AACE 6000. Arts and Culture Organizational Leadership. 3 Hours.
Offers an overview and introduction to knowledge areas and primary resource management, the successful student should finish the course with a real project “in a box,” ready to launch.

AACE 6020. Experiential Study in Arts Administration. 3 Hours.
Offers students an opportunity to learn best practices in arts project management, including how to assess and scope a project, develop a timeline with clear action items and goals, relay needs and expectations to clients, research materials to assist in the process, and measure and deliver project results. Faculty coach students to cultivate professional skill sets, build competency around key areas of student interest, and bridge theory with practice. Students receive feedback from their project sponsor, review lessons learned, and incorporate suggestions to improve and further develop their career plans. Seeks to support the development of business communication skills, project and client management skills, and frameworks for analysis.

AACE 6110. Information Technology for Arts and Cultural Organizations. 3 Hours.
Offers nontechnical students an opportunity to obtain a clear and current understanding of key information technology (IT) concepts set in the context of arts and cultural organizations and to empower them to make decisions that map technology to strategy. Covers how to identify technical terms, stakeholders, and issues; evaluate IT challenges; apply best-practice frameworks; and identify business needs and compare technical solutions in order to minimize cost and maximize strategic alignment. Combines readings, casework, video lectures, screen casts, guest videos, and a hands-on approach to researching solutions and leading change. Includes both group and individual deliverables that students synthesize to create and present a final project.

AACE 6200. Programming and Community Engagement for Cultural Entrepreneurs. 3 Hours.
Examines the role and tools of the cultural entrepreneur and investigates practical and tactical approaches centered around real-world examples. Topics include how cultural entrepreneurs turn new ideas into concrete initiatives and how they communicate with and learn from their audiences and communities to assess and evaluate the implementation of cultural endeavors. Offers students an opportunity to create their own cultural initiative from the ground up. Through modules covering mission and vision, program evaluation, community engagement, and basic resource management, the successful student should finish the course with a real project “in a box,” ready to launch.

AACE 6210. Building Value Through Cultural Enterprise. 3 Hours.
Examines the question of value through the lens of cultural institutions big and small. Explores examples from real-world case studies. Focuses on areas of value, ways to measure impact on both qualitative and quantitative levels, and how to demonstrate that impact to a variety of audiences from our daily visitors to our federal government. Value in the cultural sector is a critical question that institutions and individuals working in this area must answer on a regular basis for themselves, their constituents, and their supporters.