The General Studies Program is a first-year program that provides students with personalized support and guidance in order to ensure their academic success. Program benefits include a low student-advisor ratio, fall and spring seminars taught by the student's GSP advisor, a writing-intensive curriculum, and access to a nationally certified peer tutoring program. All majors have defined entrance requirements; therefore, beginning in September, GSP advisors work closely with students to guide them toward meeting their intended majors' requirements. Upon completing their two GSP semesters, and meeting the requirements for their intended major, students transition to one of Northeastern University's seven undergraduate colleges with sophomore status. Those students who have not met the academic progression standards for transitioning by the end of two semesters may continue in the GSP for an additional semester.

Academic Progression Standards

In order to transition to sophomore standing, GSP students must:

1. Earn an overall grade-point average of at least 2.000 (GPA requirements for specific majors may be higher)
2. Earn at least 28 semester hours of credit (32 recommended)
3. Complete college/major transition requirements

For more details about transitioning to individual colleges, see below.
