Northeastern University's D'Amore-McKim School of Business has built and sustained a legacy of excellence for 100 years. Our graduate programs prepare the leaders that the times demand with a curriculum that focuses on technology, data analytics, and uniquely human skills like critical thinking, creativity, and an entrepreneurial mindset.

D'Amore-McKim is part of a thriving global network, attracting some of the best and brightest faculty from across the business world. Many of them are founders of tech startups and respected management leaders, and our students benefit from their research and expertise daily.

Our experience-powered educational model fuses robust classroom education with real-world application, setting our business school apart. Our students do more than master skills in their chosen business field. They put the knowledge gained from a demanding curriculum to work as they apply what they've learned to authentic business challenges. Experience-fueled learning is at the heart of everything we do.
