

Marketing, Minor

The marketing minor is aimed at non-D'Amore-McKim students who wish to complement their current studies with a focus on marketing. In the marketing minor, students can select among courses that explore topics such as consumer behavior, advertising, services marketing, marketing analytics, and international marketing. Pursuing a marketing minor offers Northeastern students an opportunity to gain a deeper appreciation of consumers, markets, metrics, and brands to help them become better business practitioners no matter where their careers take them.

Minor Requirements

Complete all courses listed below unless otherwise indicated. Also complete any corequisite labs, recitations, clinicals, or tools courses where specified.

Note: Students in D'Amore-McKim or in a combined program with D'Amore McKim are not allowed to take this minor.
